Louis-Caleb Remanda

Born in 1990, Louis-Caleb Remanda is a double Master Graduated from ISG Business School (2014) in Business Administration and from the University of Versailles Saint-Quentin (2015) in Research of Management Sciences. Currently doing his Ph.D. in Management Sciences at the University of Versailles Saint-Quentin and being a member of LAREQUOI Management Research Center, affiliated to SHS Doctoral School, he is interested in learning about institutional and identity outbreaks inside organizations. His research master thesis based on the Institutional embeddedness in Japanese organizations has been published on the Éditions Universitaires Européennes in October 2015.

Louis-Caleb's Ph.D. thesis is supervised by Professor Gilles Rouet and co-tutored by Dr. Stela Raytcheva. His studies keep on analyzing the transition between institutional embeddedness - previously studied during his research master - and organizational identity through approaches of multiculturalism in Japanese organizations, working on the European Union's soil.

He is also an elected member of the LAREQUOI Management Research Center's committee and the Doctoral Council of Paris-Saclay University.
