

Academic Member and Ambassador
Communication Institute of Greece

Dr. Nikos Antonopoulos
Assistant Professor
Department of Digital Media and Communication
Technical University of the Ionian Islands
Argostoli, Greece

Antonopoulos Nikos

Dr. Antonopoulos Nikos is Assistant Professor of Communication and New Technologies in the Department of Digital Media and Communication at the Technical University of the Ionian Islands in Greece. He successfully completed his post-doctoral research at the Media Informatics Lab of the Department of Journalism and Mass Communication Media of Aristotle University of Thessaloniki on Digital Marketing. He received PhD degree in the Department of Journalism & Mass Communication at the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. He received his BSc in Information Technology and Telecommunications at the Technical University of Larissa and MSc in Cultural Informatics and Communication at the Aegean University. He has studied also, at the School of Pedagogical and Technological Education (ASPETE) and successfully completed the pedagogical training program. He has published in a number of scientific journals such as Studies in Media and Communication, International Journal of Marketing Studies, Journalism and Mass Communication, Computers in Human Behavior etc. His research interests include communication, online media, human-computer interaction, social networking and computer art. Personal home page: www.antonopoulos.info

Academic Member and Ambassador
Communication Institute of Greece

