

Academic Member and Ambassador
Communication Institute of Greece

Andreas Veglis
Professor & Head
Media Informatics Lab and
School of Journalism and Mass Communication
Aristotle University of Thessaloniki
Greece

Andreas Veglis

Andreas Veglis is Professor, head of the Media Informatics Lab at the School of Journalism & Mass Communication at the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. He received his BSc in Physics, MSc in Electronics and Communications, and Ph.D. in Computer Science, all from Aristotle University. From November of 2010 until February of 2015 he was head of the postgraduate program of the School of Journalism & Mass Communication, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. From March of 2012 until October of 2015 he was Deputy Head of the School of Journalism Mass Communication. In November of 2015, he was elected head of the School of Journalism and Mass Communication. His research interests include information technology in journalism, new media, course support environments, data journalism, open data, and distance learning. He has published in books and international journals like Journal of Applied Journalism & Media Studies, Journal of Greek Media & Culture, Digital Journalism, Studies in Media and Communication, Computers in Human Behavior, International Journal of Monitoring and Surveillance Technologies Research, International Journal of Advanced Computer Science and Information Technology, International Journal of Computers and Communications, International Journal of E-Politics, Journalism & Mass Communication Educator, International Communication Gazette, Publishing Research Quarterly, International Journal of Electronic Governance, Journalism, Austral Communication.

Academic Member and Ambassador
Communication Institute of Greece

