

Academic Member and Ambassador
Communication Institute of Greece

Dr Georgios Passas
Specialist
Signal Processing for Wireless Communications
University of Leeds
United Kingdom

Giorgos Passas

Georgios Passas has a PhD degree in Signal Processing for Wireless Communications from the University of Leeds (2009). He received his Bachelor degree, BEng in Electronic and Communications Engineer from the University of Leeds (2002), and his Master degree, MSc in Analogue and Digital IC Design from Imperial College London (2003). His research interest lies in the area of Communications Systems, Advanced Antennas Techniques, Receiver Architectures, Signal Processing and Implementations for Communications. He became member of SPCOM (Signal Processing for Communication) group of the University of Leeds at 2006. He collaborated with companies such as Compucon sa at 2004, Pace plc at 2010, Ensilica ltd at 2011 and his work has been published in many international journals.

Academic Member and Ambassador
Communication Institute of Greece

