

Academic Member and Ambassador
Communication Institute of Greece

Hui Liao
Ph.D. student
Advertising School
Communication University of China
China

Hui Liao

Hui Liao is a PhD student in the Advertising School at Communication University of China. And she is now a one-year visiting PhD student in the Department of Management in the School of Business and Social Science at Aarhus University. Currently, she is working on the drivers and channels of the dissemination of transnational media products. Her main research topics are media products, advertising, branding, media economics, and management.

Academic Member and Ambassador
Communication Institute of Greece

