

Dr Sukawarsini Djelantik
Associate Professor
International Relations Department
Parahyangan Catholic University
Bandung, Indonesia

Sukawarsini Djelantik

Sukawarsini Djelantik is an Associate Professor at the International Relations Department, Parahyangan Catholic University, in Bandung, Indonesia. She received a Ph.D. in International Relations and Diplomacy from Flinders University in Australia, Master of International Studies (MIntS) from The University of Sydney, Australia, and a B.A. from Padjadjaran University in Indonesia. Her research interests are international communication, traditional and non-traditional securities issues (terrorism, migration, gender). Her recent books are Diplomacy in Global Politics (Unpar Press, 2016), Asia-Pacific; Conflict, Cooperation and Inter-regional Cooperation (Yayasan Obor, 2015).

She received research fellowship from the Research School of Pacific and Asian Studies (RSPAS), The Australian University, Australia in 1999, and Fulbright Junior Research Fellowship at Georgetown University, Washington D.C, USA, in 2002. She was the Head of Master of Social Science Program at Parahyangan University Graduate Program (2010-2014), and currently the Head of Scientific Cluster of International Communication, Journalism and Diplomacy. She currently teaches International Relations in Asia and Pacific, International Relations in Southeast and East Asia Diplomacy, Regional Studies, both at Undergraduate and Graduate level.

