Wang Yan-yan

I am a second year Ph.D. candidate from Faculty of Education, Beijing Normal University. I received an M.Ed. from the Northwest Normal University. My major is history of education, and my research interests mainly include history of education in western countries, and history of British education, etc. Recent publications focus on the research of Jaspers, and some of my publications include On Jaspers' Thought of "Spiritual" Education [J]. Journal of Shangqiu Normal University, 2019(1):103-108.etc. The dissertation On Jaspers' Thought of World Citizen Education was awarded “Excellent Graduation Dissertation” in July, 2017.

My Ph.D. project is Tradition and Transformation: The Research of British Education Debates in the 19th Century. In order to finish it successfully in the following years, I have read many books on history, philosophy and education, etc. These reserved knowledge and previous research experiences laid the foundation for my Ph.D. research.
