

Academic Member and Ambassador
Communication Institute of Greece

Graduate student
Faculty of Education
Malaya University
Malaysia

He Xiaohan

He Xiaohan is a full-time graduate student in special education at Malaya University. She graduated from Ya'an Vocational and Technical College and received bachelor degrees in Arts, Education at China West Normal University and Leshan Normal University (China). Meanwhile, she also studied for one semester as an exchange student at Palacky University (Czech Republic).

She was involved in plenty of educational activities, including teaching students with hearing impairment in a special education school and auditory rehabilitation center. She published out her undergraduate thesis, and her research interests include but no limited to:

- Curriculum and teaching for children with special needs;
- English learning of students with hearing impairment;
- Development and education of students with dyslexia;
- Psychology among children with special needs and special educators.

Academic Member and Ambassador
Communication Institute of Greece

