

Academic Member and Ambassador Communication Institute of Greece

Baldassarre Michele
Associate Professor of Experimental Pedagogy
University "Aldo Moro" of Bari
Italy

Baldassarre Michele

Michele Baldassarre is Associate Professor of Experimental Pedagogy at the Department of Sciences of ForPsiCom of the University of Bari "Aldo Moro" where he teaches Methodology of Educational and Didactic Research, Theories and Methods of Planning and Evaluation and Design and Evaluation of Educational Systems. He directs the Laboratory of Experimental Pedagogy and Multimedia at the University of Bari and he is Coordinator of the Single-Cycle Master Course in Primary Education Sciences. He deals with the integration of technology in school and higher education, media education and teacher training, design and evaluation of training systems, e-learning. He is member of the scientific committee and teacher of "Multimedia environments for information" in the Master in Journalism in Bari. He is a founding partner and member of the Italian Society for Research on Media Education. Since A.A. 2008/09 he is a member of the doctoral board "Dinamiche formative ed educazione alla politica" Among his publications: Learning to Teach. Reflective practice in the teaching profession (2009) New media education and digital skills (2011), Teaching how to think, write, communicate in the times of the web (2012), ICT in Higher Education and Lifelong Learning (2014), The documentation/socialization of knowledge in education between opportunities and limits (2014), From big data to open data in knowledge construction processes (2015), Think big. Learning contexts, algorithms and data science (2016).

Academic Member and Ambassador Communication Institute of Greece

