

Call for Participation
5th International Conference on Education (EDU2025),
REIMAGINING EDUCATION AND NURTURING LEARNER
WELLBEING
30 June-04 July 2025, Athens, Greece

With the perspective of examining future directions on education global challenges and tensions (post-pandemic situations, environmental crisis, wars and other global tensions), this conference calls for themes that will assist educators and learners alike to reflect on what we have learnt from our recent past, and how we will take these lessons learnt to shape the future of education for the generations to come. This conference provides a forum to share knowledge, consider how to adapt to current challenges, and co-develop a sustainable path for a better future. We focus on themes promoting effective communication, access and equity, empathy, knowledge sharing and exchange, building resilience and devising possible solutions that will take educational practices into the future, despite the uncertainty that our learners face in this changing world. Themes that promote innovative education aspects valuing students' voices, examining educational impact on the young generations and on humanism today will be preferred.
